EXECUTING

1. Achiever®

What Is Achiever?

Achievers have a constant need for attainment. They have an internal fire burning inside them. It pushes them to do and achieve more. People with strong Achiever talents feel as if every day starts at zero. By the end of the day, they must accomplish something meaningful to feel good about themselves. And “every day” means every single day: workdays, weekends, holidays and even vacations. If the day passes without some form of achievement, no matter how small, Achievers feel dissatisfied. After finishing a challenging project, they rarely seek with a reward of a rest or an easy assignment. While they appreciate recognition for past achievements, their motivation lies in striving toward the next goal on the horizon.

Why Your Achiever Is Unique

These Strengths Insights are personalized based on your CliftonStrengths results.

AchieverFocus*Restorative*Discipline*Analytical

Driven by your talents, you are most fulfilled when you are productive, and you measure your progress by what you get done. At the end of each day, you like to look back to see what you have accomplished.

By nature, you frequently engage in academic pursuits for extended periods of time.

Because of your strengths, you probably set goals regarding the amount of recognition you give your coworkers. You aim to lavish them with compliments. Why? You want each person to feel valued and appreciated. Recipients of your abundant praise usually are eager to please you again. They often are willing to help whenever you ask.

Chances are good that you labor to create a future that bears little resemblance to your past. You choose to be a forward-looking person rather than someone who holds on to what was and never will be again.

It's very likely that you welcome opportunities to methodically examine details in data. You notice when a series of numbers repeats itself. Your hours of mental labor enable you to spot important pieces of information that most people overlook.

How Achiever Blends With Your Other Top Five Strengths

ACHIEVER + FOCUS

Your goal orientation gives direction to your diligence and helps you prioritize the tasks that you need to accomplish first.

ACHIEVER + RESTORATIVE

For you, a good day is getting everything on your to-do list done or fixing something that is broken. A great day is when you do both.

ACHIEVER + DISCIPLINE

You accomplish more than others because you plan your work, and then you work your plan. Your organization enhances your intensity.

ACHIEVER + ANALYTICAL

Your mind works overtime to understand how something works, and your hands work overtime to get something accomplished.

Apply Your Achiever to Succeed

Use a scoring system to keep track of all achievements.

- ☐ Display metrics that matter in a place where you can see them often. The visual measurement of your productivity will encourage you to keep making progress toward your goals.
- ☐ Put personal achievements on your scoring system. This will help you direct your busy energy toward family and friends and work.

EXECUTING

2. Focus®

What Is Focus?

People with strong Focus talents prioritize and then take action. They set goals that serve as their compass, helping them determine priorities and make alterations when needed to get back on course. Their Focus is powerful because it forces them to filter; they instinctively evaluate each action before taking it to decide whether it will help them reach their goal. In the end, strong Focus talents push them to be efficient. They are extremely valuable team members because their single-mindedness enhances the speed and quality of their performance and keeps the team on track.

Why Your Focus Is Unique

These Strengths Insights are personalized based on your CliftonStrengths results.

AchieverFocus*Restorative*Discipline*Analytical

By nature, you use words that others may find difficult to understand. When asked to speak more plainly, you might resist. This is especially true when the field in which you are working or studying has a technical language of its own. You are likely to confront complainers and demand that they master the terminology as well as each word's meaning. When your expectation upsets people, you probably maintain your position. Your need to speak with precision overrides any desire to be popular.

It's very likely that you naturally see things as they are. You emphasize facts and point others toward the truth. Your honest, direct, and plainspoken approach cuts through misconceptions so others see things clearly. Your matter-of-fact style helps people find common ground — and in the process, reach consensus.

Because of your strengths, you possess a high level of skill and/or knowledge about specialized issues, subjects, processes, or programs. You probably combine this expertise with your ability to set definite goals for the coming weeks, months, years, or decades.

Chances are good that you adhere to your well-ordered plan for the coming months, years, and decades. You give much thought to documenting all the steps that lead to the future you desire. Regularly measuring your progress is one of your priorities.

Driven by your talents, you prefer to identify the most appropriate course of action or solution before you do anything. You are determined to do things correctly, ethically, and right. Why? You probably aim to make important contributions, influence key people, or rise to high-level positions. Settling for the status quo is not an option for you. You aspire to much more in life.

How Focus Blends With Your Other Top Five Strengths

FOCUS + ACHIEVER

Your goal orientation gives direction to your diligence and helps you prioritize the tasks that you need to accomplish first.

FOCUS + RESTORATIVE

You are quick to notice flaws that need to be fixed or problems that need to be solved, and you won't give up until they are resolved.

FOCUS + DISCIPLINE

You always have a goal that you plan to reach and a plan to reach your goal. Your organization enhances your concentration.

FOCUS + ANALYTICAL

You are aware of all the contributing factors in a situation. But at the same time, you can concentrate on the most critical priority.

Apply Your Focus to Succeed

Decide what you must do, prioritize and then act.

- ☐ Say no to projects or tasks that do not align with your end goal. While you can't always say no, when you can, it will help you concentrate on your most important priorities.
- ☐ Trust your internal compass to make necessary adjustments as you work toward a goal. You have an instinct that ensures things will not distract you as you work to achieve the desired outcome.

EXECUTING

3. Restorative™

What Is Restorative?

People with strong Restorative talents love to solve problems. While some are discouraged when they encounter yet another breakdown, this energizes those with strong Restorative talents. They enjoy the challenge of analyzing symptoms, identifying what is wrong and finding the solution. They like bringing things back to life by fixing them or rekindling their vitality. In short, they bring courage and creativity to problematic situations.

Why Your Restorative Is Unique

These Strengths Insights are personalized based on your CliftonStrengths results.

AchieverFocus*Restorative*Discipline*Analytical

By nature, you might want to do something to benefit humankind or protect the environment. To create the degree of change you desire, you sometimes consider certain things you could fix or at least do better.

Driven by your talents, you sometimes become a bit frustrated with people who have few clear goals. Perhaps these individuals remind you that ill-defined objectives seldom are realized. If this thought crosses your mind, you might decide to concentrate more of your mental or physical energy on reaching specific goals you have set for yourself.

It's very likely that you sometimes figure out what you need to do better by evaluating data, evidence, or facts.

Chances are good that you may trust that your talents, skills, and knowledge in making good judgments will move you toward your goals. Although you are somewhat aware of your strengths, you occasionally pause to reflect on things you could or need to do better. Aware of this continual improvement, you might be content with what you have accomplished up to this point in your life.

Because of your strengths, you may be earnest and businesslike about some of the things you need to do better. Perhaps you think it is necessary to upgrade specific processes, practice particular skills, or expand your knowledge of certain subjects.

How Restorative Blends With Your Other Top Five Strengths

RESTORATIVE + ACHIEVER

For you, a good day is getting everything on your to-do list done or fixing something that is broken. A great day is when you do both.

RESTORATIVE + FOCUS

You are quick to notice flaws that need to be fixed or problems that need to be solved, and you won't give up until they are resolved.

RESTORATIVE + DISCIPLINE

When faced with the chaos of a problem, your precision, efficiency, and organization accelerate the return to normalcy.

RESTORATIVE + ANALYTICAL

Your ability to recognize patterns helps you when you encounter real problems that require logical solutions.

Apply Your Restorative to Succeed

Identify simple problems with big potential for improvement.

- ☐ Volunteer to help with quick fixes for issues you notice. While a simple fix may be easy for you to see, it may be elusive to others when contending with the same problems.
- ☐ Be patient when addressing complex situations with many components. Acknowledge that fully restoring such processes can take time.

4. Discipline®

What Is Discipline?

People with strong Discipline talents thrive in an organized and orderly environment. They like their days to be predictable and planned, so they instinctively find ways to organize their lives. They set up routines. They focus on timelines and deadlines. They break long-term projects into a series of specific, short-term steps and follow their plan diligently. They are not necessarily neat and tidy, but they do need precision. They create order and structure where needed. Some people may label the highly disciplined as compulsive, meticulous or control freaks, but these attributes make them productive — often more so than their critics.

Why Your Discipline Is Unique

These Strengths Insights are personalized based on your CliftonStrengths results.

It's very likely that you may prefer to set goals in an environment where most people agree to follow the procedures or rules. Perhaps knowing beforehand what to expect of others and what they expect of you makes the task a bit more enjoyable. When you are given the choice between order and chaos, you sometimes choose order. This partially explains why you become irritated with individuals who try to change procedures or make exceptions to the rules in the middle of meetings.

By nature, you often are the most prepared person in the group. You naturally entertain ideas for making things better. In many situations, you feel quite comfortable suggesting improvements.

Instinctively, you may have a reputation for keeping certain things about yourself or your environment clean, orderly, or presentable.

Driven by your talents, you are attracted to books, publications, or Internet sites that offer useful tips for putting things in order, sorting things, or disposing of things no longer needed.

Because of your strengths, you typically have a logical perspective. You tend to break projects into small parts and determine the importance of each element. Then you tackle first things first, second things second, and so on.

DISCIPLINE + ANALYTICAL

You love logic because it's objective, objectivity because it's orderly, and order because it's efficient.

Apply Your Discipline to Succeed

Look for places where you can bring structure and efficiency.

- ☐ Identify places in your life, workplace or community where you can create an orderly environment. Doing this will bring you joy while supporting those around you.
- ☐ Engage in planned conversations with your most trusted friends and partners. Creating a routine with them ensures that your relationships stay strong in a constantly changing world.

STRATEGIC THINKING

5. Analytical®

What Is Analytical?

People with strong Analytical talents challenge others to prove it. They take a critical approach to what others might quickly accept as truth. They search for the reasons why things are the way they are. They want to understand how certain patterns affect one another: how they combine, the outcome and if the result fits with the theory or the situation. Others see them as logical and rigorous. Some might feel that they are negative or unnecessarily critical when they are simply trying to understand something. They bring an objective and dispassionate examination to things enabling them to find the causes and effects, and then developing clear thoughts based on facts.

Why Your Analytical Is Unique

These Strengths Insights are personalized based on your CliftonStrengths results.

AchieverFocus*Restorative*Discipline*Analytical

Because of your strengths, you sometimes enjoy thinking about numerical data. Perhaps it appeals to your rational mind. You might prefer listening to someone talk in mathematical terms such as productivity measurements, profit margins, or sports statistics that prove a point. Maybe you become frustrated with those who make emotional pleas but fail to back up their arguments with meaningful numbers.

By nature, you automatically double check your work. You want to understand how one idea or fact links neatly to whatever precedes and follows it.

Instinctively, you earnestly evaluate problems by identifying the basics facts. You normally let reason rather than emotion guide you to the proper solution or the correct conclusion.

It's very likely that you may adopt a more favorable outlook on life when you can identify the conditions that produced certain outcomes. Perhaps you need to know why something did or did not happen. You might be impelled to examine some of the details of specific events, processes, programs, or mechanisms.

Chances are good that you figure out what you need to upgrade, enhance, or do better. You are eager to get started once you have established the importance of each task or activity. You prefer to concentrate your energy and time on one or two areas of opportunity.
